Essay Writing

Wonders of Science.

Wonders of Science are uncountable. Machines and gadgets invented and made with the help of science are found everywhere. There is not a single moment in man's life that is without machines. Laptops, vehicles, smart-phones, gyssers, blowers etc, makes man's life convenient and comfortable. Computers, Internet, Smart cities, advanced medication, online learning, buses, trains, aeroplanes and many more, are all gifts of science to mankind.

Science is helping man to find cure for the deadly diseases. It has the potential to solve all the man's problems provided it is put to right use. But man is busy misusing science for example, our planet has so much of Uranium, that if used optimally, abundant power can be generated for all the people living in all countries of the planet.

All the problems pertaining to pollution, environmental degradation etc, can be solved using science; all the sewage, garbage toxic fumes coming out of chimneys can be turned into non-polluting substances using science. However, this is being done only in the most advanced countries of the world.

The proper use of scientific inventions is really a boon, while its wrong use is a curse. Men should use science only for the welfare of mankind.

Story writing

"A stitch in Time Saves Nine"

A farmer once decided to grow watermelons in his field. When the sowing season arrived he kept postponing as he was lazy. Everyday he would postpone the work on the pretext to begin with the next day. Days passed but he didn't put any effort to sow the seeds. Soon the sowing season ended with the farmer having planted a single seed. With no seeds, there was-no crop therefore, no watermelons for the farmer. At harvest time the farmer could but only stare at his barren field while there were fields laden with crops and fruits. He regretted for not acting on time as it had been too late to do anything.
